Project WILD is a wildlife focused conservation education program for preschool-12th grade educators and their students. Whether formal, non-formal, home school, 4-H or scouts Project WILD can assist you with teaching any subject, to any grade level: Science, Social Studies, Math, Literacy and Art. www.projectwild.org

This Project WILD Workshop is co-facilitated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and Environment (DNRE) Project WILD state coordinator, Natalie Elkins and Kettunen Center Project WILD facilitator, Andrea Grix. The Project WILD workshop facilitators will model activities and participants will practice the activities and identify ways to integrate activities into their specific content areas. Participants will have the opportunity to receive correlations of Project WILD activities and the Michigan Grade Level Content Expectations Standards of several content areas

Project WILD k-12 activity guide is a grouping of hands-on, interactive learning activities that address the topics of wildlife populations, habitats, ecosystems, interdependence, adaptations, biodiversity, cultural-economic-historical and political knowledge, sustainability and wildlife management.

Growing Up WILD is an early childhood activity guide that builds on children's sense of wonder about nature and invites them to explore wildlife and the world around them. It is written especially for early childhood educators of children ages 3-7. The guide includes crafts, art projects, music, conservation activities, reading and math connections and much more.
